Fizz cater for London's Top 1000

Fizz are very excited to have been selected to cater for a VIP reception event that will announce the Evening Standard's list of London's Top 1000 most influential people. This year, this special event will take place at the vibrant London Transport Museum in the heart of Covent Garden. Approximately 450 - 500 guests attended this high profile event last year including: Boris Johnson, Peter Hendy, Ken Livingstone, Mohammed Al Fayed, Billy Piper, Sir Martin Sorrell, Richard Caring, Sir Philip Green, Lord Saatchi, Lord Archer, Lord Lloyd-Webber.

"I am thrilled with our partnership with Fizz as I love your passion, enthusiasm and comprehension of what we can achieve together. Welcome aboard."

Diamonds are forever Fizzing!

Our best friends at Moorfields Eye hospital wanted an eye-popping idea for their latest event, so we came up with a fabulous James Bond theme and held it at the Imperial War Museum.

"The gourmet sharing menu was delicious," said Heather Wilcox at Moorfields "and we loved the golden Bond girls, Jane Seymour fortune teller and Ice cream stall. It was a really fun event at a jaw dropping venue."

Top of the bill? A magnificent Shirley Bassey tribute cabaret.

East, west, Fizz is best!

We're always searching for the very best suppliers, and now we've narrowed down our search to the very best British suppliers. We're committed to sourcing at least 50% of our ingredients from British producers in 2012, not only so that we reduce our carbon footprint, but so that we can showcase the best of British every time we produce an event.

If you are a British supplier or producer, or you know someone who is, please let us know what's available: your food could be the next featured dish on our menu!

Helping Heroes to the tune of £15k

The London Film Museum was the perfect venue for our annual Help for Heroes dinner, this year hosted by Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Defence Lord Astor.

We really went for it, with a gorgeous reception enjoying stunning view over the Thames, opera arias provided by Lisa Carlisle and a sprinkling of magic between courses.

We're already planning next year's dinner at newly restored Cutty Sark and we've lined up a special surprise celebrity guest from the sporting world. Want to know more?

A taste of success

Our first client taster session of Fizz seasonal winter menus at The Banqueting House were lip smackingly good. Guests enjoyed a fabulous gourmet selection of canapés and had the opportunity to tell us first hand if our new menus were a success. In our continuing quest for excellence we'll be reporting back on how we're making Fizz even better.

Our most popular canapés:

Devon Blue & Burgundy poached pear on black pepper shortbread
(The Burgundy Poached pear was yummy, Torus Insurance)

Rare peppered steak with béarnaise & caramelised red onion
(Super, lovely, tasty, Dutch Embassy)

Jerusalem artichoke puree with scallop served from a silver spoon
(My favourite canapé refreshing and original, Societe Generale)

Banking on style

We were delighted when our international banking clients asked us to create their flagship annual event for the fourth year running in the stunning surroundings of the College Gardens at Westminster Abbey.

The Abbey provided the perfect backdrop for the bank's quintessentially British celebration and, not long after Kate and Wills said I do, our bankers' clients were enjoying our fabulous menu, followed by a tour of the Abbey itself, or a gentle game of croquet on the lawn. Bliss!

Recognising our excellence
We're thrilled to announce that Fizz has secured the quality standard 9001 certificate.

New Fizz Venue

Middle Temple Imagine, if you can, the very first performance of Shakespeare's Twelfth Night. At Middle Temple, it's easier to get your head round the idea, since the venue is recorded as having hosted the very first performance of great bard's work 1602.

The Temple is in the heart of London's legal quarter, one of four ancient Inns of Court and provides an atmospheric and secluded environment for your most memorable events.
